

Medgar Evers College, CUNY
Proudly Presents

A Conversation With...

Marian Wright Edelman

President, Children's Defense Fund
Author, "The Sea is So Wide and My Boat is So Small: Charting a Course for the Next Generation"

Book Reading and Discussion

Thursday, September 25th

2 pm -4 pm

President's Conference Center

Medgar Evers College, CUNY
1650 Bedford Avenue
Brooklyn, NY 11225

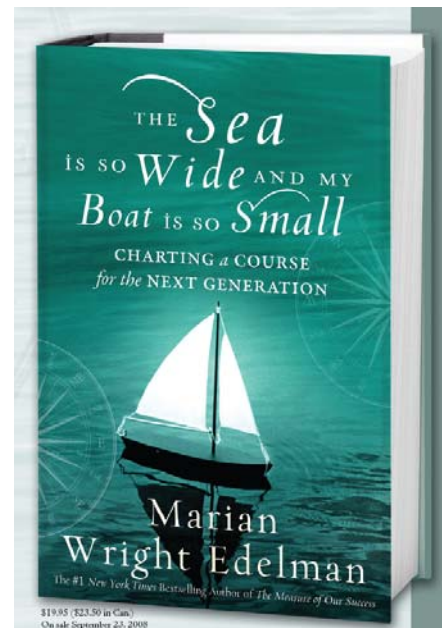

Free Admission

Limited Seating. Early arrival encouraged.

"...her letters are punctuated with the unfailing brilliance and grace that have marked Edelman's remarkable career and life." —Essence

"...an inspirational and practical perspective on ameliorating childhood poverty." —Booklist

"This book answers so many questions about the future of our children. Thank you Marian Wright Edelman for writing such an enjoyable, significant benchmark!" —Bill Cosby

This event made possible by the Center for Law and Social Justice, the Center for Black Literature, and the Women's Development Center at Medgar Evers College of The City University of New York.

Directions: 2, 3, 4, 5 Trains to Franklin Avenue or Shuttle Train to Botanic Gardens station. Walk in the direction of traffic on Franklin Avenue to Crown Street. Visit www.mec.cuny.edu for alternate directions via bus or car.